

Predict global environmental effect of human activity of today and of the future

Understand effect on climate and ecosystems of past and present human perturbations

Predict future human perturbations, given current state and change of social and economic systems